Korshak Praises Education Group

By SEN. MARSHALL KORSHAK
Dear Neighbors:

THE HIGHER EDUCATION COMMISSION, State of Illinois, has, after 18 months of discussion and study into the important and complex problems of higher education, approved a final report to the governor and the legislature.

Under the able chairmanship of Major Lenox R. Lohr, the commission tackled the problems of providing adequate facilities for higher education for its youth in an economical and intelligent manner as possible.

Many conclusions were reached. Extension and expansion of junior colleges was definitely urged.

JUNE McMECHEN, coloratura soprano, has returned to concert stage this season and was presented in a luncheon concert last week by the Westchester County Philharmonic in upstate New York. In private life she is Mrs. Paul Haywood. She lives with her husband and two-year-old son, Alan, in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

A statewide scholarship plan of 1,000 scholarships per year was decided upon in lieu of the creation of a four year degree granting program in the Chicago Undergraduate Division of the University of Illinois.

Each scholarship is not to exceed $600, and is renewable for three years in addition to the first award if the student remains in good standing.

Our private educational institutions have contributed beyond measure to the growth of the democratic ideal. Surveys have shown that while public institutions are operating at 100 per cent capacity, many private institutions do not have a full complement of students in their liberal arts schools.

We have, as citizens, an obligation to help them sustain themselves. The creation of these scholarship grants - which will cost the State less than it would cost to provide the facilities in its own institutions - provides the added important fact that the student would have full freedom of choice in the selection of the kind of institution he could attend - private or public, if it is located in Illinois, is non-profit, of collegiate grade, offering organized courses in liberal arts and sciences and if it maintains standards comparable to those of state operated facilities.

It should be completely understood that the heads of these private institutions wholeheartedly endorsed a four year branch in Chicago and never advocated anything else.

Within the last few days the proposal to build a new two year and eventually a four year branch on Miller Meadow received a fatal blow because the County Officials refused to give up the site.

The county officials, and justifiably so, felt that it would establish a dangerous precedent. Our forest preserves might become easy prey for uses other than those intended and the recreational facilities of vast numbers of people would be lost.

AT 64TH ANNUAL convention of the Florida State Teachers Association in Tampa, Fla., the Committee on Research, with its chairman, Miss Evelyn

Sharp, supervisor of schools of Volusia County, presented Dr. Richard V. Moore, a citation for 25 years of outstanding service in the schools and colleges

secretary of the Florida State Teachers Association; Dr. Moore, and R. John Sylvester Smith, dean registrar of Bethune-Cookman.

Priest Terms King A Great Social Leader

Rev. Martin Luther King will go down as one of the great social leaders of our time, Father Joseph Gremillion, pastor St. Joseph's Parish in Shreveport, La., declared here on Monday.

The priest, who is the author of "The Journal of a Southern Pastor," was the guest of the Catholic Interracial Council of Chicago. He lauded Rev. King as a great man and declared:

"Actions like the Montgomery bus boycott have astonished white Southerners taught from childhood to regard the Negro as cowardly. They never thought 'Uncle Tom' would stand up on his haunches."

FIRST NIGHTERS — George W. Gore, Jr., (right) president of Florida A&M university, and Mrs. Gore are among 701 persons who attended the "first night" performance of "Medea," given by the FAMU Playmakers Guild when the Charles Winter

Wood theater was dedicated. The "first night" was a phase of the year-long observance of PAM Week, (personality, appearance and manner.)

Explains Early Disability Law

Although the Social Security Act provides cash payments for disabled workers age 50 or older, many workers become disabled before that age. These disabled workers can protect their benefit rights, to both disability benefits at age 50 and to retirement benefits at 65, by applying for a determination of disability. This is sometimes called "freezing" the social security account, since the result is prevention of any adverse effect of a period of disability on later benefit rights.

Every disabled worker who is eligible to do so should apply for a determination of disability. If he does apply, his period of disability must be included later in determining his insured status and in computing his benefit amount. This can result in ineligibility to a retirement benefit, if he has less than 10 years of work under the law or eligibility to a smaller benefit amount.

The same requirements as to work history and nature of the impairment must be met for this action as for the cash disability payments at age 50. A worker who was disabled before 1957 and is still disabled should apply for a determination of disability before July, if he has not already done so.

Disability benefits are financed by social security taxes. An additional one-fourth percent is paid by both employee and employer, (three-eighths per cent by self employed persons) for the disability program. This is deposited in a separate account, the Disability Trust Fund, and benefits to disabled workers and children are paid from this fund.

This series has briefly described the provisions of the law that affect disabled persons. If you have any question about your rights you can obtain additional information from your social security office.

Tension High In African Nation

By ETHEL L. PAYNE

KAMPALA, Uganda—This lush, fertile country is seething with unrest. The Kabaka is back; but this has only slightly modified the deep undercurrent of nationalism running beneath.

On the drive between Entebbe and Kampala, which is about 22 miles strung along the roadside and the sleek cattle grazing in the fields make a pastoral scene similar to the rich farm communities in Pennsylvania, USA; but the thatched huts and the barefoot Africans staggering under loads on their backs serve to remind you that this is Africa: the primitive clashing against the modern.

At Owens Falls, 50 miles from Kampala, the British have harnessed the unruly waters into a giant dam, a miracle in making nature work for man. In the churning foam, speckled, golden trout leap clear of the water and dash themselves against the rocks with suicidal fury.

Green is everywhere contrasted against the blue haze of the mountains and one can believe the words of a commentator who said that Black Africa is the best part of the continent because nobody starves for food. Indeed, one can almost stick a thumb in the ground and see vegetation spring up.

The ideal resort climate has attracted thousands of Europeans and Asians here and to them it is home as much as Devonshire or Calcutta. Life is good and prosperous for everybody except the African whose ancestral roots are here.

On last Feb. 26, a new governor-general for Uganda arrived in Kampala, Sir Frederick Crawford, and was sworn in at the municipal hall. At exactly the same hour just 300 yards away, 15,000 Africans held a mass protest meeting calling for an end to colonial administration. Sir Frederick was a replacement for Sir Charles Cohen, the controversial figure who sent the Kabaka into exile and then received him back. Cohen is now a UN representative.

A Jew, he was disliked by the British colony because they believed him too liberal with the Africans and distrusted by most Ugandans because they held him responsible for the banishment of the Kabaka.

The demonstration against Crawford was intensified by the knowledge that his last assignment was as Governor General of Kenya and his part in putting down the Mau Mau rebellion.

When Vice President Nixon and his party arrived here last week, a burning flame in a bronze bowl before the palace signified the absence of the Kabaka of Buganda.

At a press conference at the Governor General's residence that evening, Nixon ran interference and fended off the searching questions which American newsmen had been storing up for Sir Frederick. Instead, he sat modestly silent while the Vice President explained that he had only been here a little over a week and so should be spared the ordeal of a question period.

Nixon said he understood the Kabaka had gone on a long-planned hunting-vacation trip; that he hadn't had a rest in five years; and this was the only time he could take a break; the point being that his absence at the time of the U. S. Vice President's arrival had no special meaning. Oddly, enough, the Kabaka was scheduled to return to Kampala on March 15, four days after Nixon's departure.

Local Africans had another version. They say the Kabaka wanted very badly to see Nixon and had asked Sir Frederick to arrange it; but the new Governor General had vetoed it. The local story goes even further. It says that the Kabaka was rendezvoused at a secret hideaway near Kampala; and through the devious channels of contact with his followers, he was available for a news interview off the record.

However, this cloak and dagger aspect to the mystery never got off the ground because by the time the intelligence had reached some of the press corps, they were on their way to the Entebbe Airport for the next leg of the grand African tour.

The chief complaints of the Africans are that they are not being given enough opportunities to share in the economy and are not getting education as they would like to have it.

Next, they resent the continued influx of so many Europeans and other foreigners. There are 14,000 Europeans here; but by far, the largest foreign colony is the Indian one which numbers around 50,000.

A local African newsman said the Indians are considered the greatest danger by the Africans because they take all and give nothing, remain aloof from the local, and side with the British rulers. The Indians own most of the small businesses and some factories and a number own and operate tea and sugar plantations. All throughout Africa one sees Indian businesses, as well as Syrian and Lebanese.

Uganda, a country of five and a quarter million inhabitants, is divided into five kingdoms each ruled by a Kabaka. The largest and richest and most progressive is the Buganda ruled over by the famed Kabaka of Buganda, a 33-year old progressive monarch.

The others are Busoko, Bunyoro, Ankole and Toro. In the south of the country dwell the magnificent Batusi tribesmen, famed anthropologically for their height and prowess at jumping.

The Kabaka of Buganda is chairman of a council of hereditary rulers who started meeting in 1952. This was interrupted in 1953 when he was sent into exile, because he led the agitation for immediate independence. It was not until 1956 that the second one was held. In 1952 before the Kabaka's exile, the leading party in Buganda pressed for three points.

1. By 1953, Buganda was to be transferred from the Colonial Office to the Foreign Office. This would take it out from under the immediate sphere of colonial policy which the leaders intensely disliked. (The people of Buganda are known as Baganda).

2. A fixed date for independence was to be set.

3. A guarantee against a Federation of East Africa. This was an idea of the British just as the Central African Federation was brought into being. Ugandians opposed this in principle because they said it was mainly to attract more foreign capital in which they would not share and would strengthen the firm grip of colonialism.

Normally, the hereditary rulers have no government jurisdiction and do not engage in politics; their influence being confined to spiritual matters; but the Kabaka of Buganda actively supported these aims. After he was sent into exile, the constitution of the country was revised and he was made a constitutional monarch responsible to the colonial rulers.

With his absence, everything came to a standstill and the Colonial office found that he was badly needed in order to have the cooperation of the people. So under an agreement in which he promised to abstain from political activity, the Kabaka was returned amid much rejoicing.

Technically, he lives up to the agreement; one of the reasons why he discreetly absented himself from the country at the time of Mr. Nixon's visit. Instead, the Prime Minister of Buganda represented him at the airport. Nevertheless, the Kabaka's influence is tremendous. He owns 350 square miles of land. Another vast tract is held by the government as crown land in trust for the people.

The seat of government of Buganda is in Kampala as well as the government of Uganda. Half of the Uganda legislative council are Africans and of the six ministries, three are held by Africans. In Kampala, we were told there are no color bars in the hotels and clubs; but there is a voluntary boycotting of these places by most Africans, one because to the independence minded people, fraternization with representatives of the ruling class is frowned upon as collaboration. A second more practical reason is that most Africans simply cannot afford the prices.

Newspapers are comparatively free; but nevertheless, some editors have been jailed or hustled out of the country for agitating. Education although greatly accelerated in the last few years is still an expensive attainment for Africans, particularly beyond secondary school. Missions do the bulk of the lower and primary education.

It is next to impossible for Ugandians to come to the U. S. for education. The standard British excuse is that it is too expensive and one can get better training for less in the United Kingdom.

In case, the African has his own means, dollar exchange is simply not granted. But in West Africa and East Africa, it is not uncommon to find Africans with Oxford accents and Bond Street habits.

Voting qualifications are extremely stiff. One must have an income of at least 700 pounds a year; must be over 21; must have paid a poll tax for three consecutive years, and must own a house and property must be valued at a certain fixed figure.

In order to stand as a candidate, one must put up 100 pounds and if you lose this is forfeited. The British have tentatively recommended free elections looking towards independence in 1961 and for Buganda, elections next year, however, the Uganda National Congress, biggest political party in the country is sending a delegation to the Colonial Secretary in London asking for free elections for all Uganda in 1958 and a fixed date for independence. All of this is but one scene in the steadily increasing demand for freedom for all Africa.

Nkrumah Praises Garvey Movement

ACCRA, Ghana — Kwame Nkrumah, prime minister of the new African nation of Ghana, credits the philosophy of the late Marcus Garvey with doing more to inspire Africa to begin its struggle for freedom than any other single factor, according to a letter received from William Sherrill, president of the Universal Negro Improvement Association.

Writing from Accra, capital of Ghana, Sherrill said:

"As I note Negro American leaders and newspapers taking great pride in the birth of a Negro nation I sense that they deliberately ignore the fact that this is the goal Garveyites have been working toward from the very beginning.

"I have talked with the Prime Minister and other leaders here and all admit that Marcus Garvey did more to inspire Africa to begin its struggle than any single factor.

"It is also agreed that the birth of a modern Negro nation elevates the American Negro to a higher place in the eyes of white America and supports his claim that he should be treated as a man.

"You will please pardon me if I seem to be patting the UNIA on the back, I am simply anxious to have the UNIA seen in its true light by American Negroes who far too long have misunderstood its objectives and treated it as a huge joke. We believe that fundamentally the Negro problem in America is tied up with the independence of Africa. That the fight for first class citizenship should go hand-in-hand with the struggle for nationhood in Africa."

Urban League Executive Dies In California

LOS ANGELES — W. Miller Barbour, western field director of the National Urban League, died last week in Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles. He was 49.

He was born in Philadelphia and received the bachelor of arts degree in 1932 from Elizabethtown college in Elizabethtown, Pa., and the master of social work degree in 1945 from the Pennsylvania School of Social Work.

In Denver, Barbour served as part-time instructor at the University of Denver.

He was a member of a number of professional organizations, including the National Association of Social Workers and the National Conference on Social Welfare.

He leaves a wife, Ruth; a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Scott; a mother, Mrs. Minnie Archer of Philadelphia; and three grandchildren, Debra, Deborah and Cecil Scott, Jr.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in Philadelphia, where a burial will take place.

CHARLES R. STANBACK of Durham, N. C., a representative of Josten's American Yearbook Company, will be the chief yearbook consultant at the 2nd annual Campus Echo Publications conference to be held at North Carolina college Friday, April 5.

● THE MOTOR CITY'S energetic group of camera fans, who are popularly known as the Shutter-Bug Group, scored recently at a comprehensive in-door shooting session. The affair was under the chairmanship of Bil Howard, national known hat designer. Some 100 camera "bugs" from all over Michigan enjoyed three vari-colored background set-ups, a table top photography demonstration, a casual exhibition of Shutter-bug photos, the open judging of three Shutter-bug contests, and most of all, a staff of widely varying models.

● BEVY OF CURVACEOUS and photogenic models included Delors Cannon Cheesecake and high fashion; Jeanne Vincent, Alice in Wonderland; J'neve Boyd, portrait head; Helen Rose Evans, pin-up and modern dance; King Coleman, collar ad and James Grandberry, Mr. Physical Culture. Judges for three contests (Cameracade, Cranbrook and Chevrolet) were two members of the Greater Detroit Camera Club Council, Hal Dick and Ken Luxon and Hazen Coon, table top photography specialist.

● THE TROPHY WINNERS were Cameracade: monochrome, Ernest C. Wilkes; color, John Gilbert; Cranbrook: monochrome, Fred Haynes; color, Dan Lee; Chevrolet: monochrome, Bob McGee; best portrait of three contests, Richard Cureton. Trophies were donated by local merchants and businesses. The Shutter-Bug group joined the Camera Club Council last November and its ready reception into the organization was proved by the representative turnout from all camera clubs of the area. Commendations were heard on all sides for:

- (1) The over-all quality of exhibition material;
- (2) The entire shooting session format;
- (3) The excellent cooperation of the members as evidenced up to the close of the session.

● THE SHUTTER-BUG Group will be represented in all Council Inter-Club contests. The exhibition and prize photos are now on display in the lobby of the Gotham Hotel in Detroit, Mich.

SOCIETY Merry Go-Round

by MARJORIE I. ULEN

The warm rays of intermitting sunshine and showers continue to give Memphians that wonderful "glad-to-be-alive" feeling, so many times called spring fever. With it, local footsteps have quickened with the pace of social life attending the scores of social, cultural and civic activities in our midst. Can't remember when "Our Town" has had so many outstanding dramas scheduled — and this is a heartening portent — what with the series of articles that ran in a local daily pointing up the need for more culture in the Bluff City. We, therefore, are merely keeping pace with the changing scene of no more of the one-sided life of only business and fun in our river town. But the full life which includes a variety of activities and sufficient emphasis placed on culture, befitting a metropolis that wants to rate in all areas of life.

SOCIAL FARE
Our well-known sub-deb Zephyrs club gave popular Doris Greene, daughter of well-known R. U. by Greene a surprise birthday party at her lovely home on Lane ave. Sunday week. While some of her friends lured Doris to the show, Ruby helped fix the wonderful party decorations and food that proved to be a wonderful shock to Doris. Members of the Zephyrs joined in making the occasion momentous. Among those present were Beverly Coleman, Pat Walker, Claude Ivy, Maxine McCain, Jean Wiggings, Delores MacLin, The Suggs Brothers — Thomas, Emmett and Martin, Eddie Campbell, K. C. Kateo, Joe Holmes, Joanne Mayo, Myra Smith, Evelyn Vasseuseur, Fannie Stigall, G. W. Mitchell, Carlee Moore, Greta Bradford, Bertherine Berkley, Grace Austin, James Sudduth and Primous Phillips.

Seemingly, it was a week end for surprise parties. . . and another which also came as a complete surprise was that of Ann Laurie Willis in honor of her husband, Atty. A. W. Willis at the Willis manse on Mississippi ave. Friend John Avery Olive used the ruse of business activity to entice A. W. from home, and upon their return Vermita and Dr. I. A. Watson, Maxine and Dr. Vasco Smith, Nell and Dr. Theron Northcross, Frances and Atty. Benjamin Hooks, Rita Olive, the Birdell Jacksons, Lawrence Westley, Helen Batts, Laurie and Atty. Russell Sugarman, Wilhelmine and Atty. H. T. Lockard and Vivian and Cecelia Willis were there to sing out the glad tidings and help make the event one to be remembered forever.

The presence of former Memphian, Mrs. Blanch Bowles of Detroit, Mich. was the incentive for two festive events given in her honor. Last Thursday, Mrs. R. S. Lewis, sr., gave a buffet supper in honor of Mrs. Bowles and Mrs. U. L. Mayfield of Fort Worth, Texas — the latter is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Margaret and Dr. Fred Rivers. Several life-long friends of Mrs. Bowles were invited to the home of Mrs. Robert and Ruth Lewis at 374 Vance ave.

The following night, Mrs. Nellie Humes entertained at her home at 673 Edith st. for Mrs. Bowles, her sister-in-law. Here another lovely buffet-supper that featured turkey and savory dishes, provided incentive for much chatter about old times and events which occurred during their younger days. Taking part in the festive evening of reminiscences were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dancy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kird, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Humes, Mesdames Effie Buffington, Hattie Braithwaite, Rivers King, Marie Adams, L. E. Brown, Alberta Fowler, Misses Emma Crittenden, Mattie Bell, Allison Vance and Mrs. Aretta Polk and Mrs. Bessie Mayfield, wife of Dr. U. L. Mayfield of Fort Worth, Texas.

La Bonne Soi's Socialites Give Fashion Show At Flamingo Room

The LaBonne Soi's Social club presented "Spring To You — In Fantasy Land", Sunday March 17, at the beautifully decorated Flamingo Club. The fashion show was very successful with the lovely models dressed stunningly in all of the scenes.

They include Alene Johnson, Odessa Dickens, Evelyn Linton, Shirley Gray, Helen Duncan, Susie Hightower, Polly C. Swayze, Versie Fletcher, Margaret Nubia, O. W. Seawood, Willa Jones, Mabel Winfrey, Juanita Jordan, Clemon Crawford, Bill Williams, Ida Belle Watkins, Juanita Burnett, Leola Mitchell, Evelyn Finnie, Adelaide Ragland, Claudia Ivy, Martel Jones, Simual Luellen and Denise Rochelle.

TOPPERS CLUB
The Toppers club was elegantly dressed in white formal coats with black pants. They cooperated wonderfully by escorting the club members, who wore their club colors, turquoise. Also presenting a lovely sight was Ather McCain, the club's sweetheart.

Two prizes were given away for guessing the price of Denise Rochelle's complete outfit. The first prize was won by Mrs. Ruth Nesbitt, 730 Walker ave., and the 2nd prize by Mrs. Laura Jones, 1412 S. Parkway. A red hassock and a pillow were the prizes.

The show was directed by WDIA's Martha Jean Steinberg, who did an extraordinary job. Mrs. Earline Hampton was the narrator. The three Magical Prizes were charming Bertha, Helen and Norma.

Along The Bridge Club Circuit

The Cotillion club met with Beatrice Matlock at her lovely home on S. Lauderdale for a lively evening of bridge, highlighted with a delicious seafood dinner. Wonderful prizes were carried away by guests Ceneta Qualls and Louise Ward and members Edna Swingler, Elizabeth Plaxico and Cleo Neal. Other guests, Bennie Gary Williams, Estelle Dumas and members Sadie Hubler, Cora Blackmon, Larcenia Cain, Ruby Jackson, Celeste Hamler, Julia Gordon, Fannie Johnson, Floyd Johnson and Maggie Coleman spent an evening filled with wonderful hospitality.

It's always fair weather when old friends get together — a fitting refrain for any gathering of Semper Fide's, one of our oldest bridge clubs. So when you friend divacuos Juanita Arnold invited "yours truly" as a guest I knew a wonderful evening of fun was to be had at Tony's Inn last Saturday at 5:30. Hostess Juanita was at her gay best as she entertained the beautifully dressed group of members and guests — serving assorted cocktails and champagne and ooh-so-tempting steak dinners.

Although many a joke is told about ladies and their brand of bridge, the same does not apply to this group, who take their game seriously, and who have in their midst some of the keenest bridge brains in the city. After the conviviality of the early meeting the game got underway and the serious side of the evening was on. It really paid off — and Juanita's prizes of perfectly gorgeous assorted spring handbags — running the gamut from gleaming patent, to gold and petit point trimmed plastic, wicker, and a handsome tote, and a pair of beautiful white gloves left all of the unfortunate, including me, downhearted and sans a lovely spring accessory.

Guest prizes went to Charlesteen Miles and Harriet Davis and members prizes to Willye T. Jones, Georgia Dancy and Ann Simpson. Members Velma Williams, Maydella Reeves, Ardena Herndon, Mabel Hudson, Eddie Rideout, Alie Mae Roberts, Aretta Polk and guests Ruby Gadsion, Alma Booth and Martha Anderson left the party singing the praises of our wonderful hostess — and hubby John R. Arnold, who dropped in to say "Hi" to their many friends present, and brought with him one of the bosses of Southland Racetrack (By the way — it opens comes the first week in May.)

The LaMar Cheri's gathered at the home of popular Sadye Cabage on Kentucky last week to complete plans for their eighth annual formal, slated for April 13, which theme will be "A P r i l Showers".

CONDOLENCES
The legion of friends of well-known and loved Gert Walker join her in her sorrow in the untimely demise of her mother last Wednesday, following an unexpected attack the same night Gert went into E. H. Crump hospital Sunday week, slated for surgery the following morning. We extend our prayers and hope that she will recover and be able to complete the plans she had to put her back on the "sunny side of the street."

Also at E. H. Crump hospital are Bernice Walker Williams and Bernice McClellan, and we know

Four Of 23 Debutantes To Be Presented By Kappas Are Announced

Presaging social interest in Memphis and the Tri-State area is the announcement by the Memphis Alumni chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity of plans for their Fourth Annual Debutante Ball, to be held Friday night, May 3, at the beautiful Club Ebony, when twenty-three young ladies will make their bow to society. Announcement of four of the twenty-three debutantes is made today.

In cooperation, with the fraternity, The Silhouettes, the wives and that their friends do care enough to send the best.

Atty. Willard Woods of Los Angeles came to Memphis from a business trip to Texas, to look in on her father, Dr. Clarence Woods, and his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Lewis, sr., and Ruth and Robert Lewis. Willard, one of the well-known Woods brothers who are all on the west coast, is married to the former Eloise Lewis.

Vivian and Beverly Ford motored down to Daytona Beach, Fla., a fortnight ago for her uncle, Allen Davis' funeral. There they stayed with another uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Davis. Afterward, they toured Bethune Cookman college, which was a short distance from where they stayed. They got a chance to visit Tampa when they carried Mrs. Rose McDonald Wright to her home there.

Mrs. Verlee Robinson left last Sunday night for Los Angeles. She will stay with her sister, Mrs. Robert S. Jones.

Herbert Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Jones is starring in "Lost in the Sun". He was last seen in Maverick Queen with Barry Sullivan and Barbara Stanwyck.

MISS WADKINS
Miss Patricia Ann Wadkins is the daughter of Mrs. Rachel Wadkins of 2652 Rust Road, Memphis of Jefferson City, Tenn. She is a senior at Woodstock Training School where she is a member of New Home Makers, Future Business Leaders of America, and the Science and the Physical Education Clubs. One of her outstanding talents is her adeptness at speech; and her hobbies are sewing and reading. Miss Wadkins plans to attend Fisk university, to fulfill her ambition to become a Social Worker. An outstanding student, Miss Wadkins has won an award in Home Economics in 1956, and an award for achievements in Social Studies in 1955.

MISS CRUMP
Another debutante will be Miss Sherry Carline Crump, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crump, of 3151 Gilmore Road. She is a senior at Hamilton high school where she belongs to many organizations, including Youth Fellowship, Memphis Musicians (Youth Division) Arpeggio and Spanish clubs. Her varied musical talents extend to playing the piano, the electric organ or flute. Miss Crump also plans to attend Fisk University, where she will pursue studies to become a Mathematics teacher or to do scientific research work. She counts skating, among her hobbies; and she in reading and playing the piano cludes in her honors the 1956 7-Up Achievement Award for the best girl student at Hamilton.

MISS HERMAN
Miss Herma Jean Coleman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Coleman of 560 Walker Ave., and was the first Negro girl from Memphis to attend the Dixie Regional Girl Scout Conference at Knoxville, Tenn., in 1954. Miss Coleman is a senior at Booker T. Washington high school, where she is a member of the Girl Scouts, School Beautiful and Hostess clubs. Her talents include voice and speech, collecting nature items from camping trips, and reading Christian literature. She plans to attend LeMoyne College, and to major in Sociology, to fulfill her ambition to enter the field of Social work.

MISS BRANCH
Miss Shirley Mae Branch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Branch, of 906 Bingham st. Miss Branch, a senior at Booker T. Washington high school, is a member of the National Honor Society, the School Beautiful club and the Library club. She is still undecided about her choice of college; and has particular talent in dancing and sewing, in addition to her hobbies, which include twining. Names of the other 1957 Kappa Alpha Psi debutantes will be announced later.

SCENES FROM AKA's "THE TWO MRS. CARROLLS" — When graduate AKA's present their latest addition to their string of successful plays Friday, April 12, at C. Arthur

fery Carroll, entertain Nobel Owens — ex-fiancee of the 2nd Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Grace Williams, his aunt, and Betty Johnson, (seated left), his cousin and lover of Geoffrey

Carroll, in a lighter scene from the dramatic hit, "The Two Mrs. Carrolls." (2) Juanita Arnold, the sympathetic first Mrs. Carroll, warns Jewel

Speight, the second Mrs. Carroll, of her husband's plan to kill her, in the dramatic thriller. (3) Fred Garner (left), as Dr. Tuttle, tries to convince Noble Owens, as Denis Pennington, that Sally Carroll is not in ill health in a persuasive scene from "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," presented by the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, April 12, at Bruce Hall, LeMoyné college. Proceeds from the presentation will benefit Alpha Kappa Alpha's Julia H. Dixon Memorial Nursing Scholarship the AKA 4-year Undergraduate Scholarship, and their new Graduate Scholarship projects, in addition to their local health projects. Tickets are now on sale, and interest is big as hundreds of patrons and friends anticipate their pleasure in another AKA play, which utilizes the talents of local citizens for the cultural benefit of the community. DYER, TENNESSEE

March is truly living up to its name of being changeable here in the Northern part of Gibson county. At the time of this writing it is rainy and cold. However this hasn't halted the comings and goings of the people of this area.

On Thursday last, Principal F. Carnes and PTA President Mrs. La Pearl Burns were made to feel good when Mrs. Carrie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ball, Miss Tyree Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Artie L. Gentry and Sylvester Burns accompanied them to Trenton Rosenwald school to attend the Gibson County PTA Council. Artie Gentry made an excellent panelist on the discussion "Juvenile Delinquency". The local PTA made a donation to the county president, Mrs. P. O. Powell, along with all the other county units in a surprise shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Jamison, Mrs. Meadie Penn, and Miss Cora Lawrence motored to Indianapolis, Ind. last week end, where Miss Lawrence is taking a new job with a church organization. The Jamisons were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Phillips while there.

Mrs. Bobbie Harris, accompanied by Mrs. Evergenia Johnson, Miss Annie B. Fisher and Jerome Ellington, is motoring to Chicago this week end. Mrs. Johnson will visit her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Doaks, in South Bend, Ind.

The Walter Hopewell Presbytery, Elders and Deacons' Council is meeting in Rutherford this week. The official delegates from the Presbyterian church here are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Nolan, Miss Annette Nolan and Miss Martha Ann Fisher. Since the moderator is pastor of this church we are sure many others will attend.

Rev. Charles Ward, Jr., of Huntington, will preach at Fairview Baptist church Sunday afternoon for club No. 2. The Elder Porter and his congregation from the Church of God in Trenton worshipped at the CME church Sunday afternoon for Stewardess Board No. 2. The services were very well attended and enjoyed by all. It seemed like old times camp meeting was being held. We are looking forward to another visit from them real soon. Mrs. Erma Wynn is president of that board. The same board held its bi-weekly meeting in the home of Mrs. James Williams last Thursday night. Incidentally they are very happy over the return of their son, Billy Dallas, who came in Saturday after serving in the Korean area. We are all looking forward now to seeing Herbert O'Daniel, who is expected to land home anytime now.

The Floyd Sowell are the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, Floyd Willie, born Wednesday, March 20, in Humbolt at St. Mary's hospital. Mother and son are reported doing fine.

The Board of Christian meets this week in the home of Mrs. A. Jamison.

Little Miss John Etta Jamison and Lois Ann Wynn were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Phillips.

The Men's board of the C. M. E. church met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Phillips on Wednesday night.

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Hutson were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Patterson on Sunday last. The sick include Mrs. Gaither Ivie and the shut-ins are Mrs. L. D. Skinner, John West, Mrs. Lena Blake, Tom Moore. If you have news will you please call the Jamisons, 3585.

Billie Williams had as his Sunday guests, Miss Lola Penn and several of her friends from Humbolt, Tenn.

Mrs. Alberta Jamison, reporter.

Rhomania Tickets On Move

All Memphis must be awaiting the appearance of Gloria Lockerman, Sigma Gamma Rho sorority's guest for "Rhomania." For Mrs. Mary Riley Brooke, general ticket chairman, reports only a few tickets remain to be purchased for the occasion.

Talent will be presented from the various schools in the community with the guest, Miss Lockerman, playing an important role during the program.

Gloria is known internationally as the spelling champion of the $64,000 Question TV program.

WORTHY PROJECT

Rhomania not only will give an opportunity to see this talented youngster, but each person will have an opportunity to share in sending a person from each of the local high schools to college next Fall. Helping send high school graduates to college is the primary purpose of the Rhomania project.

The program will be held Friday, April 26 in spacious Bruce hall on the LeMoyné college

Miss Crawford Engaged, Spring Wedding Planned

GWENDOLYN B. CRAWFORD

Mrs. Irma Oystem announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Gwendolyn B. Crawford, to Richard Boone, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Gaver, of Little Rock, Ark.

The bride-elect is a former student of Rust college and a graduate of the University of North Dakota, where she was elected queen, a member of Sigma Alpha Iota and president of Pi Lambda sororities.

Presently, she is a music director on the faculty of Philander-Smith college, Little Rock.

The prospective bridegroom is attending Philander Smith college, a veteran majoring in music.

The announcement of the wedding date will be made later in the Spring.

CELEBRITY SOCIAL CLUB

The Celebrity Social club met at the home of Mrs. Josephine Wiley, 2250 Marble st., Monday night, March 18. Devotion was led by the chaplain, Mrs. Emma Allen, with the president, Mrs. Viola Woodie, presiding over the business session.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. M. Braswell.

Regular meetings of the club are held each first and third Monday night. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Woodie, the president, at 1857 Hubert st. Mrs. Viola Woodie, president; Mrs. Carrie E. Smith, reporter.

STITCH & CHAT SEWING CLUB

The Stitch and Chat Sewing club met in the home of Mrs. Eva C. Hill, 851 Saxon, Wednesday night, campus. Curtain time for the exciting event is 8 p. m.

Mrs. Eric Rose Hill is chairman of the program. Mrs. Anna Jean Goodloe and Miss Etha Wiggins are co-chairman.

Tickets are on sale at Flora's Flower Shoppe, 733 Vance; J. and B. Grocery, 1512 Florida; LeMoyné college, 807 Walker; Strozzer's Drug Store, 2192 Chelsea and Goldsmith's Central Ticket office.

March 20. Throughout the home there were many beautiful vases of flowers.

Collins Chapel To Celebrate

Guest Organ artists will be featured at the "Organ Dedication" and Open-House celebration at Collins Chapel on next Sunday, March 31.

The Dedication services will begin at 3:00 p. m. in the Sanctuary of the church. Several of Memphis Organists will be featured on the program, along with other guest rendering solos and other numbers.

At the close of this program another will be conducted by the Courtesy Committee followed by a reception in the first unit of the church. The church is located at Washington and Orleans. Come early and enjoy the melodious strings from the Hammond Organ.

Rev. D. S. Cunningham, is pastor and Mrs. Elizabeth Procter, chairman of program committee

MISS JUBILEE and her alternates pose after their formal public presentation during the Jubilee held last Friday night in Ellis auditorium with a large audience on hand. Miss Jubilee, center, with flowers, presented by A. C. Williams, of WDIA, is Miss Barbara Griffin, 16-year-old Booker T.

Washington Junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Griffin, of 345 W. Dixon. Second alternate, at left, is Miss Lois Hampton, 16-year-old Hamilton High school junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Hampton, of 1498 Wabash. Miss Earline White, right, who earlier became the first Valentine Queen, another Cotton-Makers Jubilee honor, is first alternate. Daughtery of Mrs. Lillian White, of 2949 Alcorn, Miss White is a senior at Manassas High school. She is 18. Miss Griffin receives a capsule wardrobe and the alternates other cotton fabrics. (Newsom Photo)

TUNA BISCUIT PIE

1 can oven-ready biscuits
4 slices process American cheese, 3x4x1/2-inch thick
7-oz. can tuna, drained and flaked
1/4 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
1 can tomato soup
1/2 cup Pet Evaporated Milk

Separate biscuits. With fingers, press 6 biscuits completely over bottom of greased 9-in. pie pan. Cut rest of biscuits in two pieces to form half rounds. Stand pieces, cut side down, around edge of pan. Press pieces against side of pan so there are no holes between them. Cover bottom of biscuit shell with cheese slices. Mix in bowl the tuna and 1/4 cup milk. Spread tuna mixture over cheese. Bake near center of 475° oven (extremely hot) for 10 min., or until biscuit shell is golden-brown. Meanwhile, mix in 1-cup saucepan the soup and 1/2 cup milk. Heat until steaming hot, but do not boil. Cut pie into 4 wedges and serve with the hot tomato sauce.

"Try my new

TUNA BISCUIT PIE

It's delicious, quick, and easy..."

says Mrs. Louise R. Prothro, nationally famous food expert

"This golden-brown pie with tempting tuna filling is sure to make a hit at your house," says Mrs. Prothro. "The filling is extra rich and delicious, of course, because it's made with double-rich Pet Evaporated Milk. Baked in a cheese-topped pie shell made from handy packaged biscuits... served with a creamy-smooth tomato sauce made from double-rich Pet Milk and canned tomato soup... it's a dish fit for a king! And you make it in minutes!"

Like so many of America's famous food experts, Mrs. Prothro recommends Pet Evaporated Milk for better cooking the easiest way. Try her TUNA BISCUIT PIE—and you'll see why Pet Milk is first choice of people everywhere who like good eating!

READY SALUTE — A group of intermediate children from Hamilton school who will salute Gloria Lockerman with their number "America Salute". This formation is under the direction of Miss Claudia Hawkins and will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Brooks. Miss Hawkins' number won first place in the intermediate division last year when Sigma Gamma Rho sorority presented Rhomania. Second place, in the high school division also went to Hamilton for the outstanding presentation "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under The Sea", which was directed by Miss Cornelia Sanders. Those who saw these two numbers will be looking forward with anticipation for these presentations along with those from the other schools that will also have beautiful numbers to carry 'Round The World'. The receipts from these presentations will go toward scholarships for worthy students who wish to attend LeMoyné college. Bruce Hall is the place; April 26 is the date; 8 p. m. is the time. Mrs. Eric Rose, general chairman; Mrs. Rita Porter, president of the sorority. (Photo by Chare P. Roland)

Washington Gets Rights Law With Teeth

Extends Anti-Bias To Housing Area

OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON, — The state now has the most comprehensive civil rights law of any in the nation west of New York.

The bill which was passed by the houses of the State legislature and signed by Gov. Albert Rossellini this month broadens the present law against racial and religious discrimination and extends to public housing, public places, "public resort, accommodation, assemblage or amusement."

The omnibus civil rights bill was passed unanimously by the House and received a good fate in the Senate. The House bill was sponsored by three King County representatives.

LEADS FOR BILL

Rep. H. Dore and Ed. Munro, Democrats, and Charles M. Stokes, Republican, and the only Negro member of the legislature. In leading for the measure, Stokes declared:

"There are no white problems and no black problems, but there are human problems for every body. Publicly assisted housing includes any housing that is built or repaired with the aid of a loan guaranteed or insured by any governmental unit."

Rep. Dore said he backed the bill because: "Washington State still is a place where people can be refused housing and public accommodation because of race, religious belief or natural origin. This is an insult to the individual."

Places which no longer can discriminate on a racial or religious basis are: hotels, motels, rooming houses, vacation resorts, night clubs, amusement parks, laundries, stores, public transportation, garages, public halls, public elevators and public wash rooms.

PUTS TEETH IN IT

Lawmakers of this state passed its original civil rights bill in 1949. The new legislation adds "teeth" to those provisions and outlines procedures to be taken in discrimination cases.

The State Board Against Discrimination now has authority to order compliance with the law and any willful violation of such an order is a misdemeanor.

Also under the omnibus bill, any person or organization that knows about an unfair practice may file a complaint with the board.

WITNESSING the gubernatorial signature which made the so-called Omnibus Civil Rights bill a law were Washington State Senator Lennart, State Senator Monroe, State Senator Pat Sutherland, Governor Albert Rossellini, signing, State Representative Fred Dore, State Representative Charles Stokes, only Negro member of the legislature, who spearheaded the bill in the House of Representatives, and State Senator Peterson.

The city at large wishes to express their sympathy to the wife of Mr. Juan Davis, who lost her grandmother in Waynesboro, Ga. Mrs. Ida Davis was known by many persons of this city who did much church work over a large area. She was one of the oldest members of McCuller Covenant Baptist church and served in many capacities.

The Church of God has closed a very successful revival, under the direction of the pastor, Elder J. R. Davis. Holy Baptism was administered to 40 persons at Lake Okeechobee. After the baptizing a wonderful program was held at the church and many outstanding singing groups from all over the district took part in the affair.

Mrs. Annie Lee Edwards was shot in the arm by Ham McEluen when he fired in her cafe. She was treated at the Everglade Memorial hospital.

George Carter suffered a broken toe from a stone which fell on his foot while working on Dr. E. C. Johnson's clinic.

Mrs. Edna Moore met with an accident when she was coming down her daughter's steps. She fell and was rushed to the Everglade Memorial hospital where she was treated for a broken arm.

The reunion between James Wilson and Mrs. Paul Wilson was celebrated from Friday until Sunday. Mrs. Wilson, who spent the summer and fall in central New York, has been an employee at the Mary White Cafe until recently. Since there has been a reunion and Mrs. Wilson will reside on the Southside, she will resign from her position.

Many persons from the city attended the Progressive Baptist State Convention in Jacksonville, Fla. Some of the delegates from our city were: Rev. O. D. Williams, Mrs. Ella Jarkins, Mrs. Esther Mairon, Mrs. Pauline Stokes, Rev. A. L. Jarden and Rev. W. F. Anderson.

Mrs. Sadie Thompson is planning a trip in the near future which will be of a business nature and will take her to Thomasville, Valdosta and Atlanta, Ga.

Sunday, March 10, was a high day at the Chapel Hill Baptist church.

The pastor, Rev. L. T. Shepherd delivered a very dynamic message from the subject, "I shall be witnesses unto Me." After the sermon the chorus sang "I need thee every hour" with Mrs. Corine Miller, soloist.

One member, Miss Lillie Ruth Cooper, was added to the membership.

In Training Union, Mrs. Corine Miller did an excellent job substituting for Mrs. Sarah Turner, who was ill. She presented a quiz on "The Ten Virgins" with several musical numbers.

The pastor along with his guests, Rev. Love and Rev. Ward, also Rev. Jeffries and others, were entertained for dinner at the lovely home of Deacon and Mrs. J. L. Barnett in the Forked Deer Community.

The night service was climaxed with a soul-stirring message delivered by Rev. Jeffries, pastor of First Baptist, Maury City. His subject was "Yoke Up With Christ."

Beef, Eggs Are Still Plentiful

Beef and eggs which Memphis and Mid-South homemakers have found plentiful since the first of the year appear again at the top of the April plentiful foods list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Leo W. Smith of the department's food distribution division.

USDA reports that the marketing of fed cattle is continuing heavy, and egg supplies also are large. Southeastern food - shoppers should find both beef and eggs reasonably priced during April. Producer prices for choice grade steers during early March were $5 to $7 a hundred pounds lower than last fall, and farm prices for eggs around 8 to 10 cents a dozen lower than a year ago.

Since most of the beef coming to retail markets is from fed cattle, a large proportion of the meat - because of quality - will be U. S. Choice.

Other foods on USDA's plentiful list for April are: turkeys, potatoes, canned sweet corn, dried prunes, rice, peanuts and peanut products, Smith said.

Dear Carlotta:

We are three girls who have a problem concerning our fourth friend. She is not attractive and does not have a good figure. Because of this the boys ignore her completely. She is invited to our parties but she always turns out to be a wallflower. . . even at her own parties. There is a party coming up again in a couple of weeks. Would it be kinder to exclude her or invite her? We have written you because we respect your opinion. We appreciate any suggestions you could offer concerning this matter. Concerned.

Dear Concerned:

It appears to me that this "fourth" girl friend has enough unhappiness as it is, and I believe it will make her more unhappy if you do not invite her to the party. Apparently you do regard her as a friend and have been including her in your activities. So, don't you think it would be rather cruel if you suddenly ignored her, too?

I am wondering if there is a way you might subtly make some suggestions about things she can do to improve her appearance. If it would help, you could even offer to give her some new jewelry.

I realize there is not much you can do about improving her figure, but, as you know by just looking around there are girls who do not have perfect figures who do have dates.

I suggest you look around for a boy who doesn't expect his girl to be a "Venus", then see if you can get the two together. They say "There is a Jack for every Jill" so why not find out if that is true in your friend's case? Good luck.

Macaroni And Tuna Make A Good Combine

Tuna fish and macaroni make a delicious, stick-to-the-ribs type of dish for meatless Lenten meals. Here's a recipe for carrot tuna macaroni ring you can whip together in 60 seconds cooking time. It serves six.

Add one tablespoon salt to three quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add two cups elbow macaroni (eight ounces) so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender.

Drain in colander. Drain one 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna and break tuna into pieces. Combine tuna, macaroni, one 10 1/2 ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 cups mashed carrots, two eggs, well beaten and 2 cups soft bread crumbs. Mix well and turn into greased eight-inch ring mold.

McGhee Wins In Golden Gloves

NATIONAL GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMP Brown McGhee and his trainer Rye Ridblatt show off some of the things the featherweight received in Chicago along with his title. McGhee wears the same sweater he wore in the ring the night he fought and a new pair of 8-ounce gloves are about his neck. Mr. Ridblatt holds the boxer's championship medal and they both display the watch. (Newsom Photo)

First Boxer To Bring Title Home

Memphis' first National Golden Gloves champion has been praised as a boxer who "figs more like a pro than most professionals."

Rye Ridblatt, who for 20 years has been instructor of boxing and judo at the Stratton YMCA, added that to his other summation of 17-year-old Brown McGhee, the other being that "I think he's the best amateur fighter ever to come out of Memphis."

Young McGhee, a senior at Booker T. Washington High school, a featherweight, was a member of the Chicago squad that almost swept the intercity matches last Wednesday night at Chicago between that city and New York.

SWITCHING PAID
Last Wednesday night's victory over Norman Smith of Washington, D. C., was the fifth in a row for the Chicago team.

Smith, a sharper and cleaner puncher than McGhee, could not connect solidly with the speedier Memphis boy. McGhee's switching style paid off as he kept plowing into his rangier foe and hitting with lefts and rights.

Mr. Ridblatt who wasn't in Chicago the last time, said Sunday he was glad he was not there. "It would have been hard on me. I can't stand too much excitement and when I'm there with my boys I live through every blow of the fight."

The Chicago team trainers handled all the boys representing Chicago in the intercity meet.

Mr. Ridblatt said he had never seen McGhee lose a fight in the two years he has been coaching the Negro boxers. "For that matter," he volunteered, "I've never seen any one get a solid punch against him."

The boxing coach thinks his first fighter to win the National Golden Gloves fights something on the order of Henry Armstrong. "He keeps moving, keeps punching. He is what you call the aggressive fighter."

HEMPHILL WON
Another Memphis boy, Joe Allen Hemphill, a former Hamilton High school student, who fought out of Rockford, Ill., won the heavyweight title.

Some years ago Buddy Holderfield, of Little Rock, Ark., a member of the Memphis team, won the title and that's as close as Memphis had come until McGhee turned the trick this year.

McGhee entered the meets in Jackson and went on to Montgomery, Ala., before getting to Chicago.

His fight missed being on the air last Wednesday by about three minutes. The fights went off at 25 minutes to 10 and he started fighting at 12 minutes to 10.

As a champ McGhee, who wants to be a chemical engineer, received a 24 jewel Hamilton watch, a gold medal, set of 8-ounce gloves, sweat uniform and the black and white trunks and sweater he used in the ring.

THIRD CHANCE

McGhee has been boxing since he was 10 and this trip to Chicago was his third crack at the crown.

His career started in the Tri-State Amateur Tournament headed by Prof. Harry T. Cash as a novice and weight (70 pounds) in 1950. He won.

Next year he won in the tourney as a squeezer weight (80).

As a flyweight in 1952 and '53 he again took the championships.

He won again in 1954, as a bantamweight (118), and that was his first trip to Jackson. He won there as a novice at St. Louis. This was as far as a novice could go.

In 1955 he went to Jackson as a featherweight (126) and won, went to Montgomery and won, also taking the sportsmanship trophy.

That year he won three fights in Chicago before losing in the quarter finals.

Came 1956. McGhee started out again. The Tri-State tourney, The AAU bouts in Jackson, to St. Louis. And then back to Chicago where he lost his second fight.

That was the first year Mr. Ridblatt worked with the team.

He came back with them this year. They worked hard, most of the time using the equipment in the basement of Prof. Cash's home where boys fighting in the Tri-State meet usually sharpen up.

He took Gerald Moore, 112; Cecil Boyd, 118; McGhee, 126; Aaron Hackett, 135; James Webb, 147; Willie Dallas, 160; Garrett, 175; and Bobby Rayfer, heavyweight.

ALABAMA CHAMPS
McGhee, Hackett, Webb and Moore won against heavy competition. This made them Alabama state champions, gave them a passport to Chicago. Joe Holt, a novice, went along, also.

Hackett lost his third fight; Holt was stopped by second time; Moore was beaten in the quarter finals, and Webb lost a split decision to Joe Shaw, international champion who fought in the Olympics at Australia.

McGhee went on to beat 21-year-old George Reiter of Minneapolis to win that time and get a

50,000 See NAIA Won By Tenn. State

By EARL S. CLANTON III

NASHVILLE — Tennessee State university's capture of the 19th annual NAIA national basketball championship was rated among the top five tournaments in the organization's history, by Al O. Duer, executive secretary, last week.

In a release from Kansas City headquarters, Duer listed Tennessee's 93-72 victory over Southeastern (Oklahoma) State as one of the five significant developments of the week-long convention.

"The new champions, as well as the other 31 district champions comprising the starting national field, conducted themselves in a manner that upheld the traditions of sportsmanlike conduct of the highest order for which this tournament has become nationally recognized," Duer stated.

In attendance the national tourney drew an estimated 50,000 fans in the six-day playoff that was assured the continued support of Greater Kansas City sports followers to the tournament, evidenced by the fact that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization, had the second highest advance ticket sales in the tourney's history — approximately $31,000.

"Tennessee State, one of the more than 50 all-Negro colleges holding NAIA membership, emerged victorious by defeating, in order, Adrian, Mich., college, 87-69; Portland, Oregon university 87-70; Western Illinois of Macomb, 90-88; first seeded Pacific Lutheran of Parkland, Wash., 71-70; and Southeastern State, 92-73, for the championship. These victories were made possible by superb team play that stressed speed and consistent brilliance of individual team members," the executive secretary praised.

"The democratic principles upon which NAIA was founded," Duer continued, "and to which it held unwaveringly through the years resulted, for the first time, in an all-Negro college annexing a national basketball championship."

Civic Club To Launch Adult School Program

The Douglass-Bungalow - Crump Civic club will launch an adult education program for residents of the Douglass area. Registration for the study will be April 2.

Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays between 7 and 9 p.m. in the recently dedicated Community Center on Ash st.

The class matter will include fundamental reading and writing and basic arithmetic. There will be a course for those who need work at the first to third grade level and another for those requiring study at the fourth to sixth grade level.

TEACHERS VOLUNTEER
Rev. Alexander Gladney, civic club president, said around 20 public school teachers have volunteered to teach the courses free.

Anyone in the area who knows of some person who could be benefited by the classes is urged to encourage that person to attend.

Rev. Gladney said it was found that a great number of the people are unable to read and write and another large group can read and write to a limited degree.

Down On The Farm Glaze Your Tempting Easter Ham

"Cows respond to kindness." Boys and girls who attend Sunday School regularly are possibly familiar with this statement. "Kind words turn away wrath."

Many successful dairy farmers are conscious of the fact that kindness plays a great part in the production of dairy cattle. A cow is a very nervous animal and responds to kind treatment. I don't mean that a farmer has to have a radio in his barn playing sweet music for his cattle in order to increase production, but he does need to avoid noise and cruelty.

One should never excite a cow before she is milked. Dogs should not be allowed around the barn at milking time, since barking is one of several means of annoying such a machine as a high producing cow is often called. The farmer who exercises care his cow to let down her milk. It has been proven that the amount of milk that a cow is capable of producing is present in her utter at milking time. The big question is how much of this milk will one get from the cow each time she is milked.

REGULARITY A BIG FACTOR
The cow responds to regularity of milking. It is very important that a farmer practices milking his cows the same time every day. Too many farmers put off milking to do some other jobs and good treatment encourages thinking that the dairy cow can wait and not be affected.

Other practices that should be carried out are: avoiding what is so frequently called stripping the cow, and the failure to milk rapidly. These two common methods are responsible to a great extent in causing the cow to dry off.

A dairy cow must have the proper feed material for body maintenance and milk production. This feed stuff must be of a high quality and fed regularly. One of the cheapest sources of feed for the cow is a good mixture of grass and legume pasture. This plays a great part in reducing the cost of commercial feeds and makes milk production more profitable.

Glaze Your Tempting Easter Ham

Glazed ham can make a tempting main course for Easter dinner. Here's an idea for easy-to-prepare ham:

1 canned ham (four-to-six pounds)
Whole cloves
1 cup canned apple sauce
1-4 cup light brown sugar
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 tablespoon orange juice

Bake ham until thoroughly heated, 30-45 minutes, at 350 degrees. Remove from oven and stud with cloves; then cover with glaze and bake one-half hour at 400 degrees.

Recently in the Freshman Comp class of Miss Juanita Williamson the third of a series of panel discussions was presented to the class by Miss Annie B. Price and James Greer. The topic under discussion was "King versus NAACP." Miss Price discussed the reasons which leads us to believe that Mr. King had valid reasons for attacking the NAACP, on the other hand Mr. Greer did just the opposite.

The material was dramatically presented by the vivacious young and her accompanist and the class enjoyed the presentation. The eyes of many un-read students were opened and they are now wide awake.

Frank Lyles recorded the entire discussion so that the material will be available for future reference.

FUTURE DISCUSSIONS

Next week another panel of six will present a discussion concerning the current Egypt-Israel dispute. The topic will be, "Does Egypt or Israel have a right to the Gaza Strip?" Members of the panel are to be, Frank Lyles, Harry Crockett, Emma Gibson, Linda Haralson, Miss Lee and Mr. Patterson.

Late in April or early in May a giant discussion will be staged dealing with such questions as, "What constitutes a Liberal Education?" "How can we tell when we have secured a Liberal Education?" and "The Values of a Liberal Education."

These discussions are quite interesting to all concerned as well as educational and enjoyable. LeMoyn students interested in attending should see J. M. Greer, B. J. Poindexter or Miss Juanita Williamson.

ROMANIA

On Friday, April 26 at 7:30 p.m., the Sigma Gamma Rho Sororities will present, "Children Around the World" in the famed Bruce Hall on LeMoyn's campus. Their guest artist will be the nationally famous Negro hi-school girl, Miss Gloria Lockerman.

Miss Lockerman was recently a contestant on the television quiz show, "64,000 Question" and won half that amount before quitting the game under the advisement of her grandmother.

For information concerning Romania call GL 8-7607 or WH 6-0130. Basileus of the Gammars is Rev. Rita Porter, chairman, Erie St. Road.

ANNUAL WORKSHOP

Recently at the St. John Baptist church, located at Vance and Orleans, Mrs. C. P. Roland, head of LeMoyn's audio-visual aids department, met with a group of the church's members, in response to popular demand, and organized an audio-visual workshop.

It is seemingly safe to assume that since visual aids is being used in all other fields so successfully it is finally coming to be used in the church. This is progressive action because the church is a very important factor in community development and should function as such.

At the meeting of the workshop members, a film was shown entitled, "The Toy-makers' Workshop" and proved to be quite impressive.

In the movie there was a conflict between two puppets who were alike in all respects except for a few aspects on the one of them and they chose to segregate themselves accordingly. The conflict became of such a nature that the toy maker had to come over and settle the argument. Instead of choosing sides the toy maker simply stated, "I made the both of you and there is no technical difference between you."

If this could only hold true when dealing with race relations today with the Heavenly Father serving as Maker. He made us all and there is no technical differences.

Mrs. Roland is slated to hold another workshop meeting if possible, on LeMoyn's campus, where materials will be plentiful. Such an organization can prove very important to the community in general and we sincerely hope it will be a success.

DR. M. L. KING SLATED

The famous Alabama Negro minister who motivated the bus boycott in his hometown of Montgomery which led to desegregation on the buses, is slated to appear at the Metropolitan Baptist church on April 19. The church is located next door to LeMoyn's campus.

Dr. King is being presented to us through the efforts of the Alpha Phi Alpha, Phi Beta Sigma, and Kappa Alpha Psi fraternities.

All business appointments will be held on LeMoyn's campus.

Plan to attend the public program. It could be quite inspirational.

CHAPEL TIME

During the course of the year LeMoyn's campus has been favored with visits from such speakers as, Dr. Thomas Parish and Rabbi James Wax in its chapel services.

Dr. Thomas has been in Memphis only three years and is an active member of the D'sciples of Christ church. He recently received an honorary doctorate from Culverstock college in Canton, Mo. The topic of his chapel talk was, "The dreams that harden into deeds."

Rabbi Wax, a frequently seen figure on LeMoyn's campus, is also a native of Missouri and took training at Missouri State university and Washington university. He received Rabbinic training at Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati, Ohio. Graduate work was completed at University of Chicago and St. Louis university.

He serves as Rabbi at the Temple Israel. He chose as topic of his chapel talk, "The Fear Of Loneliness."

The Busy Bee club of Mt. Olive Baptist church, Waverly, Ark., met last Friday night at the home of Mrs. Annie Walker. Rev. C. Burges is minister.

The annual Crittenden County 4-H basketball tournament was held in connection with the national 4-H club week. There were 15 entries.

The Phelix High school rolled up enough points to carry back four willing trophies.

Teams in the meet were (5th and 6th grade boys) Turrell, the winner; Crawfordville, runners-up; and Banks and Marion; 5th and 6th grade girls, Banks, winners; Crawfordville, runners-up; Marion and Turrell; 9th - 12th grade boys, Marion, winners and Crawfordville.

These 4-H club teams were coached and supervised by leaders and senior 4-H club varsity players. Samuel Whiting, Phelix leader and 4-H'er Rhodes, coach for the senior and junior boys. Miss Harris, Phelix leader and 4-H'er Lucy Lane, coach for the girls. Mr. Watson and Mrs. Hilliard were coaches from Turrell.

Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Cleora Sanders and Mrs. Mary Miller, of Crawfordville; Mr. Sherman and Mrs. Clayton, of Edmondson. Hulbert won over Edmondson in the 7th and 8th grade wing school boys' bracket. Marion won over Crawfordville in the same bracket for girls. Marion beat Crawfordville in the 7th and 8th grade high school division for boys. Marion girls in the 9-12 division defeated Crawfordville. Miss Leachman, Banks 4-H club; Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Harness and Carlton Adams, senior 4-H coach.

Officials for the tournament were varsity players of the senior 4-H club in Forrest City and were under the supervision of John B. Clerk, St. Francis county extension agent.

The Morning Star singing chorus had a weiner roast last Friday night on the lawn of the residence of Mrs. Izola Reed, of 126 S. 13th st., and it was real fun meeting old friends and roasting weiners. The president, Mrs. Sarah Thurmond, expressed thanks to the public and all members of the chorus. Mrs. Lottie Hill is the chorus secretary and Rev. C. Bolden is minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mitchell, of 126 S. 12th were happy to have Mrs. Albia Taylor of Earle, Ark. and her granddaughter, Wonder Joy Gray, as week end guests. Mrs. Taylor is mother of Mr. Mitchell.

The Pilgrim Rest chorus is sponsoring a program Sunday, March 31 at 2 p.m.

The following churches are participating: Rev. Tucker, of New Salem Baptist, Riceville; Rev. W. D. Johnson, of Mt. Calvary, West Memphis; and Rev. S. Cooper, of Green Hill Baptist, Marion.

Mrs. Josephine Jenkins is president of the sponsoring group.
